

Distinguished Lecture

Life as a Full Time Faculty

Date: 29 December 2010 (Wednesday)

Time: 3:00pm-4:30pm

Venue: Hall 307, 3/F, CBCC TKO Campus

Speaker: Prof. Wing M. Fok

Honorary Professor

Department of Business Administration (CFHC)

Abstract:

In this presentation, Prof. Fok will discuss the balance between teaching, research and service as a full time faculty member. The main focus of his presentation will be on how to become an effective faculty member through ensuring effective student learning. Some good teaching practices will be discussed. The PDCA cycle will be used as a basis to discuss teaching pedagogy, as well as assessment of student learning. Open discussion format will be used for the presentation. Participants are encouraged to bring their course syllabi for sharing.

About the Speaker:

Prof. Wing M. Fok is the current holder of the Henry J. Engler, Jr. Distinguished Professor in Management in the College of Business Administration, Loyola University New Orleans. He received his college education from the Chinese University of Hong Kong and completed his higher education in the United States. He received his Doctorate Degree in Operations Management from Georgia States University. He has conducted researches in the following areas: Quality Management, Technology Management, Cross Cultural Management, Management Information System and Forecasting. His publications can be found in many academic journals including: Information & Management, Production Planning and Control, International Journal of Operations and Production Management, Public Personnel Management. One of his articles is included in the textbook: Manufacturing Research and Technology: Global Manufacturing Practices. His research has won best paper awards from several academic conferences including Decision Science Institutes, Western Decision Science Institutes and Southwest Academy of Management. His publication has won best paper awards from several academic conferences including Decision Science Institutes, Western Decision Science Institutes and Southwest Academy of Management. He is the Editor-in-Chief for the Journal of Asia Business Studies (JABS), a journal published by Emerald Group Publishing. He is also an editor of the International Journal of Electronic Government.

Co-Organizers:

- ☼ Department of Business Administration (CFHC)
- ☼ Department of Business (CBCC)
- ☼ Centre for Excellence (CFHC & CBCC)